

I didn't become a piano player or a guitar player.

I hate my life so much because I did not follow my heart, and I did not have the perseverance to learn guitar.

Finally, I decided to end my life.

A person with long blonde hair, wearing a white patterned shirt and blue pants, is lying on their back on a light-colored tiled patio. Their arms are raised above their head, and their legs are bent at the knees. A white cat with orange markings on its face and paws is lying on its side next to the person's head. The background shows a green lawn and a colorful, abstract wall with wavy patterns in shades of blue, red, and yellow.

I didn't become a piano player or a guitar player.

I hate my life so much because I did not follow my heart, and I did not have the perseverance to learn guitar.

Finally, I decided to end my life.